EDE 206	EVOLUTION OF THE MOTHERHOOD, PRACTICES AND COUNSELING	English	BA	Winter	4	30	30		Assoc. Prof. Dr Habil Monika Bogdanova	m.bogdanova @fp.uni- sofia.bg

Short description of the course (in the language of instruction): The subject of this course is the culture of motherhood as prophylaxis, experience and professional support within both pedagogical-and-social and psychological-and-consultative contexts. The academic course has interdisciplinary scope and is based on the evolutionary study of the humanity's attitudes towards giving birth, motherhood and children rising during the first years of their lives. The main aspects of those attitudes are biological, medical-assisted, psychological, economic, juridical, political, cultural, and aesthetic. In modernity, the intersections of these fields have been structuring the formation of specific professional skills and competencies of the specialists from educational and social professions. Those are namely the professionals for which the course has been designed.

EDE 210	STAFF SELECTION	English	BA	Winter	4	30	30		Assoc. Prof. Dr Habil Monika Bogdanova	m.bogdanova @fp.uni- sofia.bg

Short description of the course (in the language of instruction): There is almost no data of systematic researches on methods and techniques for assessment in staff selection. This activity is largely carried out spontaneously as the intermediary-companies use experts' services - psychologists, sociologists, managers (seldom educators) - each expert prepares "his part" of the procedure. So working teams performed more united mechanical activities than complete and validated procedures. There is also no research on the acceptance of techniques for the candidates themselves. On the other hand the activities of recruitment are highly actual and are now a real part of the whole mechanism of movement and human resource development. Training of specialists in this area is one of the new tasks of high education. On the third side the application to work from template procedure has become a key stage in the career path of each specialist. The program integrates these important fields and roles and competences of existing entities - employers, intermediaries, candidates. So on one hand selection and applying for job by professional counseling depends on the satisfaction and career prospects of the candidate, the effectiveness of the organization and on the other hand what we have as a consequence - increased resilience of labor market. The program aims to form competences for counseling, organizing and conducting staff selection procedures; competences for counseling when applying for job; guidance competences and management of the activities in this field.

EDE 115	PERSONAL COUNSELING	English	BA	Summer	4	30	30		Assoc. Prof. Dr Habil Monika Bogdanova	m.bogdanova @fp.uni- sofia.bg
---------	---------------------	---------	----	--------	---	----	----	--	--	-------------------------------------

Short description of the course (in the language of instruction): The last years of globalization and borderline economic and social life; extremely dynamic development and consolidation/automatization of regional specific crops; a blip in national and international holdings problematize like never before professional and comprehensive realization of human life. First, the choice of profession, social and citizenship, personal start proved to be just the beginning of the sequence of solutions of different nature that determine the dynamics and direction of life and personality. The problems of continuous personal counseling are formed. Secondly, the profession turns out to be just one of the areas of career development in the overall life plan personality and changing social environment. A group of situational and personal multicultural counseling is formed. Thirdly, the integration between the various spheres of economic and social life; extension of reality beyond time and space of narrow professionalisation shape the problems of coordination and management of the factors for professional and career, for personal, formal and non-formal personal development. Nowadays in Bulgaria young people are permanently in the category of "risky". This determines the particular and great society-wide and professional significance of the issue as a basic component of the preparation of the social worker. The program is developed methodically on theoretical and practical level. Theoretical level aims to develop the abilities of students to be aware, to compare, and to make a reasoned choice of methods and approaches in the fields of counseling and professionals and unemployed citizens and students. Practical level exercises and consolidates these abilities in overall situations. The aim is both to systematize informational culture of students and to build and develop competences for design, construction and management of people's social development according to their personal and vital and their objective realities.
