Short description of the course (in the language of instruction): The main focus of the course is to make an introduction to the online survey methods used in social sciences. Online surveys are fast developing methodological field and the basic knowledge about them will help the students in different social sciences and humanities (as Sociology, Psychology, Political Sciences and others) to develop their own research projects related to this field. Also, the other focus of the course is also to help the students to develop practical skills in making online surveys by using one of the most popular open source platforms for making online questionnaires and tests (Limesurvey). The course is suitable for Erasmus students in Social sciences.
